

Just a Little
This & That
By W. E. W.

Has Always Been So

It is almost amusing to a seasoned resident of Southern California when he reads of some itinerant easterner who has written home about the frosts, the winds and several other disagreeable features that this state gets once in a while. Every state, every country has disagreeable weather conditions at times, and the surprising thing is that so many people coming to Southern California seem under the impression that there is nothing here of the earth, earthy, but conditions are rather some relation to paradise.

Growers of citrus and deciduous fruit are first up against freak changes in weather; they are up against pests; they must experience wet seasons and dry years—in fact, the farmer of Iowa and the fruit grower of Southern California have about the same problems, only they come under different heads. And after the crop is harvested, there's the market.

If this particular section didn't have any disagreeable features there would be so many people here it would be impossible to house them. If those easterners who come out here would just use their ordinary horse-sense they wouldn't be disappointed when it rained too hard, became too warm or too cold, or the wind was too strong or there wasn't enough wind, or it was too dry. All of the above conditions exist at times the world over and there is no reason to suppose anything particularly different here.

Welcome Rain

If the Orange Show doesn't do anything else it has brought us rain and is maintaining its reputation for bringing us something in the storm line. Fog, mist and at times real rain drops is about all we have received of the rain which we have been looking for.

Pomona Comes Back

Pomona has thrown off the Blue Law idea and once again ranks among progressive cities of Southern California. Pomona citizens have wearied of the thousands of jibes cast at their city since adopting the Sunday blue law ordinance. Theatres will open in the city on Sundays commencing March 1st.

MANY AT I.O.O.F.
INITIATION HERE

More than 300 people attended the initiation of Odd Fellows held on Tuesday night in the Upland I.O.O.F. lodge rooms, on Second Avenue, when Lloyd Kohn of Stockton, State Grand Master, was guest of honor.

Mr. Kohn spoke in an interesting manner on lodge matters, and another speaker of note was "Dad" Pelton of Pomona, said to be the oldest Odd Fellow in the United States. He is now ninety years of age, and has been an Odd Fellow since 1855.

The initiatory work was put on by Charles F. Anderson, noble grand of the Upland lodge, and those receiving initiation were A. Allison, Harry H. Cook, Virgil Davis of Cucamonga, and Fred W. Anderson of Upland.

The Chino lodge won the visitation prize, with 48 members out of 68 present. Other lodges represented were Pomona, Ontario and Claremont.

On the refreshment committee were Harry Plum, Charles Anderson and Henry G. Tinsley.

BROTHER OF DR. STONE
DIES AT INGLEWOOD

Upland people who had the pleasure of meeting the Rev. James B. Stone when he visited his brother, Dr. Robert C. Stone, pastor of the Presbyterian Church here, and sometimes occupied the pulpit, will be grieved to hear of his death at Inglewood, February 17th.

Rev. Stone was a native of Scotland, born in 1866. He was a graduate of Park College, Missouri, and McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago. He came to California thirty years ago, and for the past five years was in charge of the Inglewood Presbyterian Church, resigning some two months ago on account of ill health. He leaves a widow and five children.

Services were held in Inglewood yesterday.

Friendly Suit to Be Started to Clear Title to San Antonio Park Site. Women's Club and Lions Co-operating

San Antonio Park, at the head of Mountain Avenue, still belongs to someone else, but just who is a matter of doubt, as the county records do not contain definite data as to just who owns it, as the taxes haven't been paid by anyone over a period of years and the plot was at one time dedicated as a park in a subdivision plan, yet evidently is a part and parcel of the holdings of the Pacific Electric.

Thus is summed up the status of the park site ownership. Recently the members of the Upland Woman's Business and Professional Club adopted the park as its child and asked the city council to allow them to mother it. A little later members of the Lions Club asked permission to assist the ladies in bringing the park back to a thing of beauty and a joy forever, so with a mother and a step-father, so to speak, steps were taken to find out who owned the park.

It was generally agreed that the county owned the park and the Board of Supervisors promptly gave it to the city, and the city placed the child in the hands of its new parents. Further investigation brought forth the fact that the county didn't own the park and has given someone else's child away.

Attorney A. W. Burt of the Lions Club, who has been investigating ownership of the park, appeared before the city council last night and was asked to institute a friendly suit to clear title to the park, and in time it will probably become the property of the city.

ONTARIO MAN SPEAKS TO LIONS

C. M. Baker of Ontario was the principal speaker yesterday at the regular meeting of the Upland Lions at the Sycamores, his subject was "The Evolution of Transportation."

An invitation from the San Bernardino Den was given to attend the meeting in the Gate City on Monday, and forty signified their intention of going. Wiley W. Mather presided at the piano during the musical part of the program. Twenty-three Lions attended the luncheon yesterday.

CHAFFEY FRI.-SAT.

Tonight and tomorrow night at 8:15, at Chaffey Auditorium, the Chaffey Glee Clubs will stage their big minstrel show, otherwise known as the Burnt Cork Riot. That it is going to be all the name implies, seems to be the consensus of opinion, judging from all information that can be gleaned from reliable sources. Certainly there is a variety of entertainment offered that will touch every taste. From the typical darky humor and gags with their continual snap, to clever and ingenious stunts such as "Zink's Inna Pickle" (which will be a genuine surprise), the "Peripatetic and Perambulating Orchestra" (another novel and diverting musical innovation), "Ill Treated Troubadour," with its killing burlesque on the famous opera; then on to the finale in which will be heard the finest negro music of the old south, sung by a splendid chorus and male quartet—through all there runs a variety and interest-compelling quality that is bound to make the "Burnt Cork Riot" one of the best shows of the whole year. Nothing like it has been seen on a local stage in many years and is not likely to be attempted again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Harnly of West Tenth Street returned on Tuesday from a delightful two days trip to Imperial Valley, where they visited in El Centro and Westmoreland. They state the valley is looking very pretty at this time.

Commendation of the National Orange Show, a defense of his administration, and pledges of continued economy were woven into the address of Governor Friend W. Richardson delivered at the opening of the Fifteenth Annual Citrus Classic at San Bernardino last night.

The Governor told of his boyhood life in San Bernardino and of his return to this city at various times, among them including his trips to 10 of the 15 citrus expositions.

Economy Outlined

"I have witnessed several splendid shows. I have ever wondered how they might be improved. I have always been shown they could be and this year the Orange Show is a revelation. Your building is a tribute to your community and your state," he declared.

Mr. Richardson, who visited Patton in the afternoon, mentioned the trip, stating that he desired to keep ever in touch with the work of the state institutions to see that they are run economically and efficiently.

"I was elected on an economy platform and I am keeping my pledge," the Governor declared. "I am opposed on every hand by politicians and exploiters of the treasury. I have been at the capitol many years. For many years every election has meant an assessment on state employees. This is one thing I have prevented and I can now say that in three elections this year in which we were victorious, not one cent in tribute was collected from a single office holder."

Budget Growing

"I am doing this work to see if California wants a business administration or a political one. I have referred to myself as the business manager of California, a corporation with a budget of $100,000,000. Despite economy practices the government expenses have increased. Much of our cost is in fixed charges over which the Governor has no control. The state is merely a collection agency for the schools to which over half of the funds are allotted."

At the present time there are many bills before the Legislature. Most of them are just pork barrel appropriations. I ask you to tell your representatives and senators to voice your opinion on them, for remember that when you are silent the special interests are always busy. I want you to line up the Legislature membership for economy. Whether the Legislature is influenced by special interests or not your Governor will not be. Most of the bills will receive my veto should they be passed. "Our opponents said that economy would mean the hurting of the institutions for the unfortunate. This has been proved wrong for never were the wards of the state better housed."

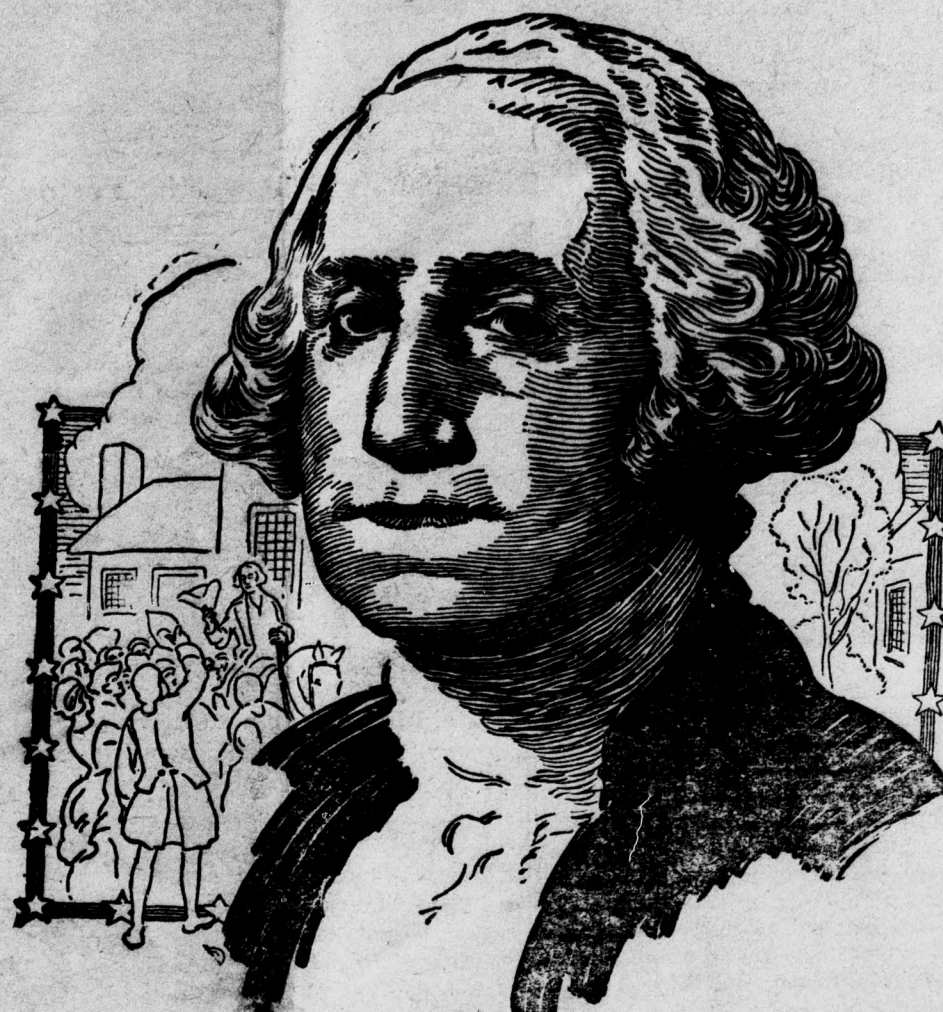

Bond Issues Exhausted

"Economy has been successful for my associates have been selected for their business ability alone, irrespective of their politics. There are high officials whose politics I do not even know."

Mr. Richardson closed his address with a summary of the highway situation in which he said that the funds of previous bond issues have been exhausted. The future he leaves with the people to decide for he will not propose additional taxes. He mentioned the alternatives of stop building highways or of seeking some new source for funds. The three sources he mentioned were an added gas tax, another bond issue, and an ad valorem tax on property. The present gas tax is sufficient only for maintenance and repair work on state highways already built, he stated.

The following bills were ordered paid:

UPLAND'S WELLS
TO BE LINKED TO
WATER DEP'T.EQUIPMENT PURCHASED
FOR 22ND STREET
WELL

Councilman F. C. Buffington will represent city at the Annual Meeting of the San Antonio Water Co. Feb. 24

Plans to link Upland's wells together are being carried to completion and within a few weeks all the wells will be emptying life-giving fluid into one main line and thence distributed throughout the city.

Bids for cement pipe were opened last night as follows: T. A. Evans: 10-inch pipe 25c a foot, laid; 12-inch pipe, 30c a foot, laid; digging of the ditch, 20c a lineal foot. Emsley Robbins: 10-inch pipe, 17c; 12-inch pipe, 25c; hauling and laying, 6c per foot. Henry Klusman: 10-inch pipe, 18c; hauling, 4c; laying, 5c; digging ditch, 10c. The water committee of the council will interview the bidders and award the contracts, as the bids were so at variance in detail that it was difficult to determine which contractor was the low bidder.

Western Gets Contract
Western Pipe & Steel Company was awarded the contract to supply the city with casing, shoe and starter for the Twenty-second Street well. The contract price was $1360.00.

Buffington to Represent City
Councilman F. C. Buffington will represent the city at the annual meeting of the San Antonio Water Company, which is to be held on February 24th. The city owns about 135 shares of San Antonio Water Stock.

Receives Money
The city council last night received the $300 due from Attorney Strong in lieu of the fence for which Mr. Strong was paid during the recent controversy over the opening of Second Avenue.

To Buy Trailer
Street Superintendent Manley was requested to purchase a trailer to be used in connection with the garbage truck. The trailer will carry the garbage instead of placing it in barrels in the truck.

The following bills were ordered paid:

EXPERT VINEYARDIST
MAY WORK IN COUNTY

Probability that Professor F. T. Bioletti, extension specialist in viticulture of the College of Agriculture at Berkeley, would be available for service in Southern California and San Bernardino County, providing vineyardists of this vicinity are sufficiently interested in sulphuring and spring management of the vineyard to justify his coming, was intimated in a letter to H. J. Wilder, farm adviser, from H. E. Wahlberg, county agent of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, yesterday.

A good deal of Professor Bioletti's work has to do with the control of vine mildew and in this capacity his services are considered invaluable. Should a sufficient number of requests for Mr. Bioletti's services be registered with the Farm Bureau in the near future, it is likely the viticultural specialist will be assigned to this county early in the spring.

Farm Advisor Wilder immediately answered Mr. Wahlberg's letter soliciting Mr. Bioletti's services.

ASSESSOR WINS POINT ON RAILWAY TAXES

San Bernardino County will receive approximately $3000 more in taxes annually by the State Railway Commission's classifying of the Mojave Northern railway on the desert near Oro Grande, as a private-operated line, Assessor A. E. Allen announced yesterday.

Assessor Allen for years contended that the railway, because it serves a country virtually uninhabited, is non-operative property and is taxable by the county. The issue was carried before the State Board of Equalization last year and referred to the State Railroad Commission.

Before the commission in Los Angeles yesterday attorneys representing the Southwestern Portland Cement Company withdrew their former protests against classification as non-operative property, thereby permitting the county to tax the property.

The line extends from the cement company's plant at Oro Grande to a quarry six miles away and is a standard-gauged railway.

PRISON BOARD IS RESPONSIBLE FOR
ALFORD PAROLEGOVERNOR, BOARD AND
WARDEN SEPARATE DEPARTMENTS

Each Department Operates Its Own Business Without Interference From the Others. Governor Will Not Interfere

Gov. Friend W. Richardson does not interfere with the State Board of Prison Directors, but has implicit confidence in the board and will "back the board on every act," he declared yesterday when asked for a statement on the issuing of a parole to Fred E. Alford, ex-city manager of Ontario who served but 18 months for the asserted theft of $80,000. The Governor admitted he had received a telegram from George W. Loring of the grand jury, asking that a probe be ordered.

"I know nothing of the case," the Governor said, "but I have faith in the prison board and will back the members in any of their acts."

"I issue any pardons that are issued and the board names the paroles. The board does not recommend to me nor do I recommend to the board in any cases. The warden of the prisons do not recommend any pardons to me and what the board does is its own business."

"The warden's office, the Governor's office and the parole board are divorced from one another in every respect."

Governor Richardson said he did not know anything about the Alford case or that Alford was out until a few days ago. The Governor, however, was emphatic in his faith in the various members of the parole board and plainly said he would support the board.

"They are all high-class fellows," said the Governor. "I do not interfere with the board in any of its acts."

From the Governor's attitude, it was plain that he is not more than ordinarily interested in the demands of the Ontario residents that an inquiry of the parole be conducted.

Orange Show Opens
In Blaze of Glory as Thousands Applaud

The Fifteenth Annual Orange Show opened in San Bernardino last night and for a week will be the Mecca of thousands who will flock to the Gate City to behold the orange as King of the Southland.

Enthroned in a Venetian setting with myriads of colored lights and varied silken banners adding a quaint beauty to the scene, not only was the opening of the fifteenth annual show an event of last night, but the dedicating of the permanent home, 600 feet long and erected during the past year, was equally important, for it marked an epoch in the establishing of the annual exposition as a permanent feature of Southern California.

Lined in golden tiers around a remarkable reproduction of the walls of the great exhibition hall were 2,500,000 oranges solidly banked together with other fruits of the citrus orchards, spelling out the names of communities in which they were grown and various marketing companies and associations.

The pavilion was illuminated in a twilight effect when J. B. Gill, chairman of the reception committee, escorted Governor Richardson to the stage, where the official opening ceremonies were conducted.

Dedication Speech

Following brief address of welcome by B. L. Holmes, president of the Exhibition Association, and prominent exhibitors, Governor Richardson delivered the formal dedication speech, officially beginning the show, which will continue daily until March 1.

Touching an electric switch at the speakers' table, the Chief Executive of the state turned on a blaze of incandescent lights that studded the towering exhibits like sparkling gems. In turn, the industrial, automobile, educational departments and the gay midway were similarly opened.

Upland and Ontario presented a feature exhibit, a replica of the Campanile Bell Tower, which is destined to be the center of the admiring throngs throughout the show.

Men of Upland who assisted in placing the exhibit were: Charles Benson, G. A. Hanson, F. H. Manker, P. H. McQuillen.

From Ontario were B. W. Spencer, Willard Ball and others.

In charge of the Upland fruit displays were T. K. Vernon, chairman; C. A. Bauerlin, Frank Van Natta, Dr. O. W. Kankel.

One of the most striking exhibits is the Los Angeles County representation, "The Palace of Golden Fruit." In beauty and color, combined with mechanical arrangements, it is magical in effect. As the visitor enters the arched portals to the pavilion, the Los Angeles exhibit catches his eye first.

Crystal Globe

Spinning on the top of the palace, a mirrored crystal globe flashes the reflected radiance from every light in the hall like a fire. Around the palace of oranges a garden of Southland blossoms serves as an appropriate frame of the symbolic picture, a bubbling fountain of youth at the feet of a beautiful girl.

Another exhibit of rare beauty is the reproduction of the Bell Tower at the Campanile of St. Mark, presented by Orange County.

The Fresno "Tower of Jewels," perhaps, is the largest and most elaborate of feature exhibits, reaching almost to the roof, it is built entirely of citrus products and blended in color harmony with fitting decorations. It stands in the center of a Japanese garden with fountains and pools, bordered by rows of oranges, which also form the garden walls and bridges.

San Diego is represented by

Redlands' Display

A huge "Basket of Gold" is the Redlands' entry at the exhibition. An artistic study in blue and gold, the Redlands exhibit is without its match for simplicity of design. Thru mechanical devices the big basket continually brims over with its golden burden and drops oranges, one by one, into crates on either side.

Other exceptionally artistic exhibits are the "Spanish Galleon," presented by Riverside. It is composed of a miniature galleon, tossed by miniature waves, sails blown full by a mechanical gale. With the effect of a marine painting magically turned into life, the galleon scene is framed in a dignified setting of Spanish theme.

Pasadena is represented by a golden crown typifying the "Crown City." Pomona has an elaborate entry listed as "Pomona, Goddess of Fruit." Colton has worked out a beautiful "Dutch Windmill" effect, and the Lindsay Farm Bureau Fruit Association is exhibiting a presentation symbolic of the dirigible Los Angeles transatlantic flight and the Army round-the-world airplane flight. In action, the airplanes and dirigible encircle a world of citrus products.

Elephant orchards present an exhibit of great beauty in Oriental design. San Jacinto has a "Ramona" exhibit featuring an old Spanish ox cart driven by a pretty senorita, typifying the days of Old California.

A beautiful tower and bridge, all of oranges, is the exhibit of the Randolph Marketing Company. Fontana orchardists are showing a model packing plant in action, operated by a bevy of Sunkist maids. A great fountain, hurling geysers of water high into the air, is the exhibit of the Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce. Because of the great size of the fountain it was placed in the plaza at the entrance to the exhibition hall.

R. H. Mack, general manager of the show, said last night that all indications were that all previous attendance records would be shattered. Every hotel in San Bernardino was reported taxed to capacity by the throngs of visitors at the Orange Show.

HARVEY MCMASTERS
ONE YEAR OLDER

Harvey McMasters of the postoffice delivery force is four days ahead of the Father of His Country when it comes to celebrating birthdays, and Wednesday was a gala day among the postoffice staff, being the twentieth anniversary of Mr. McMasters. He was the guest at a jolly little party given "behind the scenes" by his co-workers, and cake and coffee were served to add to the enjoyment of the occasion.

REAPPORTIONMENT COMING UP SOON

When the Legislature reconvenes at Sacramento February 24, to delve into the numerous bills and amendments introduced during the first half of the session, one of the big problems to be threshed out will be reapportionment of the state's legislative districts.

Nine measures bearing on reapportionment were introduced during the first half session and of this number six of the bills propose amendments to the constitution. Two of the measures are still in skeleton form and will be filled in by their authors after the session begins.

The two skeleton bills, introduced in the Assembly by Thomas L. Dodge of Los Angeles and Byron J. Walters of San Diego and in the Senate by Harry Chamberlain of Los Angeles and Ed Sample of San Diego, call for reapportionment along strictly constitutional lines.

The farmers of the state have a measure which would divide the districts according to their own wishes which would give the "cow counties" control of the upper house and permit the metropolitan sections control of the lower house.

This bill, which is known as the 3-8, 5-8 measure, has the support of California Farm Bureau Federation and other such organizations. It is intended to prevent the three large districts of the state from controlling both houses of the Legislature.

Of the forty Senators now provided for in the constitution the proposed amendment would limit San Francisco, Los Angeles and Alameda to a total of 15. The 25 other Senators would be selected by the rural districts.

Assemblyman S. L. Heisinger, of Selma, introduced a bill and a constitutional amendment both of which would obtain the same result. The measures provide for a reapportionment along lines of population except that larger counties would be limited in the number of representatives.

Los Angeles would be limited to six Senators and 19 Assemblymen; San Francisco would be limited to five Senators and 11 Assemblymen; Alameda would be limited to four Senators and eight Assemblymen; counties of the fourth to sixth class would be limited to two Senators and counties of the fourth to ninth class would be limited to two Assemblymen, under the provisions of the Heisinger bill.

Counties of the seventh to fifteenth class would be limited to one Senator each and the remaining counties would be divided into ten Senatorial districts. Counties of the tenth to twenty-fourth class would be limited to one Assemblyman each, the remaining counties to be divided into sixteen Assembly districts.

A measure by Senator Chas. V. Lewis of Los Angeles would amend the constitution so as to completely revise the method of selecting Legislators. Under the terms of this amendment the Governor of the state would appoint a commission to reapportion the state every ten years. The commission would be composed of the Secretary of State, the Surveyor General and the Attorney General.

A measure by Assemblyman Maurice Browne of Sonoma would limit the number of Assemblymen to 58 and of Senators to 40 as at present, the reapportionment to be made on the basis of population for Senators. Each county would select one Assemblyman under the terms of this bill.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS DAY AT ORANGE SHOW SAT.

About 2000 Knights of Pythias and Dookies are expected to attend the Fifteenth National Orange Show next Saturday, according to an announcement. Temples from all parts of Southern California will be represented, it was stated. The San Bernardino Knights of the Alt-Tar Temple and Valley Lodge will be present in a body with bands and drill teams. All Temples of the southern part of the state will have their bands. At Sahill Temple of San Diego, Al Borak Temple of Los Angeles, and the temples of Santa Barbara and El Centro have completed preparation for attending the citrus classic.

The Schools Concern the People

ONE-FOURTH of our entire population is engaged in school work as pupils, teachers, supervisors, and administrators. The public schools constitute a great corporation spending over one and a half billions of dollars annually. Each citizen is a shareholder and has a voice in determining what kind of a school his community shall enjoy. Is your stock represented when school policies are determined?

The life of American children today is so different from that of our grandparents that they need a very different kind of help to meet these new problems. When the butcher, the baker, and the candlestick maker, as well as the weaver and cobbler, were all members of the same family things done with the hands were learned at home and their worth was appreciated. Now we phone for what we need, drive the auto around the corner or at most a few miles over good country roads for them, or else have them delivered by parcel post. Children, therefore, no longer gain industrial education in their homes. The schools are supplying as much of it as they can.

The school should give every child an equal opportunity to attain his highest development. It should secure for him a healthy mind and body. It should imbue him with the principles of personal honesty and a strong sense of his obligations to his family, his community and his nation. It should give him the education and training necessary to support himself and to bear his just share in maintaining a community with high American ideals. It should develop his capacity for the wholesome use of leisure. It should inculcate a broad and understanding patriotism which insures our country's highest good.

Better understanding of the school's problems and heartier co-operation of all citizens in their solution are needed. The number of pupils dropping out of school after the fourth grade is appalling. Out of 100 pupils who enter the fifth grade, 66 fall by the wayside during the next three years; 20 more drop out during the high-school years, leaving only 14 of the original 100 entering the fifth grade to complete the high school course.

Almost as startling is the poor daily attendance of the pupils enrolled in the schools. Of each 100 pupils enrolled in all the public elementary schools and high schools, 79 are in actual daily attendance. This irregular school attendance caused the waste of $250,000,000 last year. Taxpayers robbed themselves of this amount and at the same time suffered their children to lose an average of nearly two months' schooling in a year.

Half of the school population lives in the open country and villages. Three and a half million of them still attend one-teacher rural schools. Many of the 175,000 one-teacher rural schools have undergone little change during the past generation. Their school terms are one or two months shorter than city and village school terms. Their teachers have received the fewest weeks of professional training of any group of teachers. More than one-fourth of them are teaching their first term of school. Their average age is three or four years younger than city and village teachers.

City people should learn more about rural education. Rural people should learn more about city schools. The ultimate economic success of the merchant and the manufacturer depends to a large extent upon purchases made by rural people. People's wants are greatly influenced by the kind and amount of education they receive. Thousands of adults from the country go every year to the cities to fill places in industrial, commercial, and professional fields. The services they perform and the kind of citizens they become in their new environment depend on their early education. It is imperative that the education they receive be such as to fit them for life in the city as well as in the country.

The Boy Scout Movement

ON February 8, the Boy Scout movement in America celebrated its fifteenth anniversary. There were 445,000 of these Scouts two years ago, and the time is probably not far distant when 1,000,000 boys will be organized for these interesting and helpful aims.

During the war, they sold $270,000,000 worth of liberty bonds, besides $42,000,000 of war savings stamps. While this was a big lift on Uncle Sam's war program, such a service after all was only an incident of their achievement.

Their main accomplishment has been to take boys who were frittering away their time in more or less idle pursuits, and give them ideals of work and play. Of work, for self-improvement and ambition, and of play, for many sportsmanship and fairness on the athletic field.

A period of membership in this organization has transformed thousands of these youngsters. Where formerly they were mischievous and inclined to revolt, now, being given an outlet for their activity, they put their energy into useful aims. But no matter how fine this organization, it can not run itself. These boys need good generalship. The usefulness of any particular troop usually depends on the willingness of some older fellow or some little group of young men, to take hold and see that the organization conforms to the Scout ideals.—Redondo Reflex.

Accuracy Important

IN urging upon the students of the Pulitzer School of Journalism at Columbia University, New York, that the first virtue of a newspaper reporter is conscientiousness, Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, did something more than express merely a journalistic platitude. For the day is not far distant, it is justifiable to believe, when the standards which in many periodicals have held sway for the last few decades are going to be relegated to the scrapheap. Yellow journalism, without a doubt, is on the downward path. Constructive ideals, many signs indicate, will be the universal order of the day in newspaper activities not long hence, and those who can read the signs of the times are trimming their sails accordingly. Mr. Ochs spoke as a man of foresight in warning his hearers against inaccuracy, prejudice and callousness.—Christian Science Monitor.

WASHINGTON, THE REALTOR

George Washington was a real estate man, a subdivider. And if he had lived later, or the National Association of Real Estate Boards had been established earlier, he undoubtedly would have been a realtor. Because that is precisely the kind of man he was, according to an article by Frank Parker Stockbridge, which is to appear in Collier's Weekly for February 21st.

It was in the historic surveying trip into Western Virginia when Washington was sixteen that the future first president learned much about the buying and selling of real estate. He was put to it to use later when with his older brother, Lawrence, and his patron, Lord Fairfax, he took an active part in the development of the new little city of Alexandria. The surveyor of the partnership was active in the subdivision and sale of lots. So active and so successful that he went on to a more extensive land settlement enterprise in the undeveloped land at the headwaters of the Ohio, the tract his early surveying trip had made him familiar with.

The French and Indian War was occasioned in large part by the rival claims of the French to the territory, part of which was being settled by the Ohio Company, in which Washington was a shareholder. The war bulks large in the histories, but to the man Washington, his part in it was a matter incidental to his business career, the author feels assured. When it was over he settled into the real estate business in earnest.

"There was nothing austere about the George Washington of twenty-six, with a mouth like Rudy Valentino's," Mr. Stockbridge writes, basing the new Valentine-Davy Winsor conception of Washington on a miniature painted when he was twenty-five, and a small town real estate agent in Alexandria. "He joined everything there was to join. If there had been a Rotary Club (or Kiwanis or Lions or Civitas), or a real estate band or a chamber of commerce, George Washington, the 'regular fellow,' would surely have been a member.

As a real estate speculator, Washington set a pace which few of his successors have followed with the same daring, the article states. He became the first American millionaire, and easily the richest man in America. A fortune of the same size today would be counted at somewhere around ten million dollars.

Not a stone remains of Washington's real estate office in Alexandria, on Cameron street just east of St. Asaph. A bronze tablet in front of the vacant lot identifies the spot where his town house stood and where he maintained his office.

STAR SPANGLED BANNER

Oh, say can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we haled at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous night
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there,
Oh, say does that star spangled banner yet wave,
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave?

On the shore dimly seen thro' the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze o'er the towering steep
As it fitfully blows, half conceals, half discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected, now shines on the stream,
'Tis the star spangled banner, oh, long may it wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

And where is that band, that so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion
A home and a country should leave us no more?
Their blood has washed out their foul footsteps' pollution.
No refuge could save the hireling and slave,
From the terror of death and the gloom of the grave.
And the star spangled banner in triumph shall wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Oh, thus be it ever when freemen shall stand,
Between their loved homes and the fowl war's desolation;
Blest with vict'ry and peace, may the heav'n rescued
Praise the power that hath made and preserved us a nation!
Then conquer we must, when our cause is just,
And this be our motto: "I God and our trust!"
And the star spangled banner in triumph shall wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

—Francis Scott Key

Miss Helen Keyes was home from Broad Oaks Normal School for the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Keyes, of Base Line.

Miss Edna Larson who with her young nephew, Donald McLeod, grandson of Mrs. J. T. Haddock, have been enjoying a month's visit at the Haddock home on Base Line, leaves on Saturday for their home in Warsaw, Wisconsin. During their stay here, Mr. and Mrs. Haddock entertained their guests with many motor drives to various points of interest. Miss Larson has fallen in love with the country and desires nothing better than to return here to make her home at some future time.

Mrs. H. H. Thomas is out from Los Angeles, spending a few days at the ranch home on State Highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Keyes of Henry, So. Dakota, who were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Keyes, having returned here with them from Long Beach last Friday, returned to the beach city Monday.

Dr. Buckner of Pasadena, the new district superintendent of the M. E. Church, paid his annual visit to the Cucamonga Church Wednesday of this week, a business meeting being held that evening in the church. While here, Dr. Buckner was entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Keyes.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Jordan entertained house guests for over the week-end, the party numbering relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Goldworthy and three children, and Mr. Rastey, all of Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Billings and two children are getting much pleasure and comfort in the possession of a new Jewett Grand Brougham.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Harvey motored to San Bernardino Wednesday morning, Mr. Harvey making the trip on business.

Mrs. J. C. Parkin of Edgemont, So. Dakota, who has been visiting her son, L. R. Parkin and family, in Hellman Avenue, the past two weeks, left Tuesday from Los Angeles for a two weeks' visit with her nieces in Fresno, expecting to return here for another two weeks' stay and a visit at Long Beach before returning to her home in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Keyes motored to Long Beach last Friday, where they enjoyed a visit with the latter's cousin, Mrs. Kate Thompson of Spokane, Wash., whom Mrs. Keyes had not seen for forty years. Mrs. Thompson has come to make her home in the beach city with her daughter, who is a teacher of French in the Long Beach schools, and will be joined there later by Mr. Thompson.

Oklahomans Enjoy Local Visit

Mrs. E. S. Allen has been delighting in a visit from old friends and former schoolmates, Mr. and Mrs. Clise Webster, of Medford, Okla., who have been spending a portion of the winter touring California. Mr. and Mrs. Webster have also been visiting other old friends in Etiwanda, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Pierson, who accompanied them on trips to Bear Valley and to the Orange Show today. The visitors leave for their home in Oklahoma on Saturday. Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Allen entertained in honor of their friends at their home in Base Line.

Welcome New Daughter

Monday, at the San Antonio Community Hospital, a pretty little miss, weighing 8½ lbs., made her appearance to bless the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Beattie, while young brother Jack and two big sisters, Margaret and Louise, share in the joy occasioned by the advent of the small daughter. Mother and babe reported getting along famously and "dad stepping high."

Entertain Guests

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hatch were cordial hosts at a prettily appointed dinner Sunday at their home in Hermosa Avenue, their guests numbering Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Keyes, Miss Helen Keyes, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Keyes, Jr., and little daughter, Earline, of Highland; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Keyes of Henry, South Dakota, and for luncheon additional guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lanport of Los Angeles, and their motor guests, Miss Maxine Wright of Grand Forks, North Dakota, and Herbert Olston, newspaper man from Oxnard.

Honor Teacher's Birthday

As a pretty compliment to their beloved teacher, Mrs. Geo. E. Keyes, on the occasion of her birthday anniversary last Friday, the J. O. C. girls of the Cucamonga M. E. Church, arranged and carried out very successfully a happy little surprise party in her honor, assembling at the home of Miss Marybelle Rupp in Base Line, where the honoree arriving in due time, they sprang their surprise and presented her with pretty and useful birthday remembrances. Old-fashioned games, music and story-telling furnished amusing diversions of the evening, after which a delicious collation of sandwiches, cakes and cocoa were served. J. O. C.'s participating in the enjoyable affair and wishing their teacher many more such delightful anniversaries, were Misses Charlotte Smith, Maxine Miller, Lois Juckett, Helen Keyes, Edna Forster, Margaret Hawker, Cora Hedges, Lola Wanger, Wava Hively, Catherine Klusman, Edith Cuning, Lucille Champion, Marybelle Rupp, and their guests of the evening, Misses Naomi and Vera Rupp of Upland.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Crossman, Thursday, Feb. 19th, at San Antonio Community Hospital, a fine boy, under care of Dr. Weber. The baby's four-year-old brother, Harry, is delighted at the good news. Mr. and Mrs. Crossman were formerly of Upland, but now living in Los Angeles. Mr. Crossman is a nephew of E. S. Bishop.

WASHINGTON'S FATHER

Augustine Washington, father of General George Washington, was a Virginia planter of the first class. He brought with him from England the characteristics and qualities of an English gentleman, and an intelligent and devout attachment to the English Church. In person, he was remarkably tall and manly. He was also a man of strong mind, with great energy of purpose; and his thoughts and feelings were habitually under the control of practical religion. In common with the Virginia planters of his day, he delighted in field sports. His long heavy gun, still in existence, suggests the thought of a huntsman of extraordinary size of body and power of arm, and warrants the reports which tradition has handed down to us respecting the large frame and great muscular strength which his distinguished son inherited.

One who knew him personally has described him as a man of uncommon height, noble appearance, manly proportions and extraordinary muscular power. At the Principio Iron Works on the Rappahannock, he once lifted and placed in a wagon a mass of iron which two ordinary men could barely raise from the ground. Yet this gigantic might of muscle never tempted him to take any part in the frequent combats which occurred in Virginia in his day, except to stay savage violence by separating combatants. And such was his character for magnanimity, justice and moral worth that he commanded, wherever he appeared, and in whatever he engaged, universal and unhesitating deference.

His disposition was mild, his manners were courteous and his private character was without reproach. And as he lay on his death-bed, he uttered a declaration that does honor to his memory. "I thank God," he said, "that in all my life I never struck a man in anger, for if I had, I am sure that, from my remarkable muscular powers, I should have killed my antagonist, and then his blood, at this awful moment, would have lain heavily upon my soul. As it is, I die at peace with all mankind."

The success with which he accumulated property and added field to field, until he could provide plantations for his sons, and an independent maintenance for his surviving daughter, illustrates his exemplary diligence and industry, so conspicuous also in the character of his son George.

On a certain occasion this man of vision and great understanding planted seeds in his garden, so disposed as to exhibit, when they sprang up, the words "George Washington." The first discovery of a spectacle so novel, and to him utterly unaccountable and marvelous, naturally awakened in George's mind profound astonishment. He went to his father, told him of the strange sight, and conducted him to the spot where the wonder might be seen. The father now availed himself of the absorbing incident, to lead his little son to trace the phenomenon to an intelligent cause. He told the secret of his being himself the agent in producing it. And he then explained, in a striking and impressive manner, the pervading indications of contrivance and design in the whole visible creation, and the wonderful and convincing proofs of an intelligent and benevolent Great First Cause.

Yuma Road Is Completed

Two states are now joining hands in commemorating completion of the last link in the highway which unites Southern California and Arizona. This is the section of road beginning at the Colorado River bridge at Yuma, and coming west through the famous sand hills to Holtville.

With this paving, improving and plank road completed, motorists are assured first class transportation facilities from Phoenix to San Diego by Yuma and Imperial Valley. This section of road will serve three great interstate highways which converge at Yuma and cross the Colorado River there. They are the Bankhead Highway, the Lee Highway, and the Old Spanish Trails. From 300 to 500 motor vehicles use this road daily, and it is expected that the improvement of the 65 miles between Holtville and Yuma, which previously had been the worst part of the road, will increase the number of cars to 1000 daily.

Completion of this improved highway over the picturesque sand hills has been under promotion and construction for some 15 years. Back in 1913, C. E. McStay, field secretary for the Automobile Club of Southern California, made the first attempt to chart a road through this then forbidding and sparsely settled section. It has been a long and tedious task, and to celebrate the consummation of this dream representatives of Southern California and Arizona will hold a joy-fest at Yuma, Saturday, February 28th, to which the governors of both states have been invited.

This great highway marks the completion of the first transcontinental route through Arizona to California. It will be open to travel every day in the year, and is said to have more days of sunshine for travelers than any other route.

Several officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California, the automobile editors of Los Angeles and San Diego papers, representatives of Imperial Valley publications, representatives of the State Highway Commission, and good roads proponents from all sections of Southern California plan to participate in the celebration at Yuma. Completion of the road is being widely exploited throughout the east, as it is expected that 1925 will be a banner year for motor tourists coming to Southern California.

MANY SARCASTIC PEOPLE SUGGEST NEW SLOGANS

Safety slogans as a rule are solemn, depressing and terrifying, but occasionally a lighter vein is introduced by advocates of caution. Some of these that recently have come to the attention of the Automobile Club of Southern California are clever and punchy. A sarcastic railroad man in the east suggests to careless motorists: "Better stop a minute than forever."

Not to be outdone, a locomotive engineer offers this one: "Try running into one of our locomotives. They satisfy."

The manager of the Southern Pacific Hotel at Truckee is credited with this one: "Stop! and let the train go by. Hardly takes a minute; Your car starts out again in fact."

And better still—you're in it."

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED—

Celebrating the 12th anniversary of their club, which was organized on February 22nd, 1913, at the home of Mrs. W. C. Cline, members of the Merry Wives Embroidery Club motored to Universal City today as guests of Mrs. C. C. Eymann, a former resident of Upland, and still a member of the club.

Following their usual custom, the members exchange presents and a great deal of fun is experienced. Among those going today were Mrs. Thomas Harris, Mrs. G. B. Bower, Mrs. Mark H. Bailey, Mrs. C. K. Francisco, Mrs. F. H. Manker, Mrs. C. M. Sikes, Mrs. Grace Paulin, Mrs. N. G. Pehl, Mrs. W. C. Cline, Mrs. D. Crew, Mrs. George Gregg, Mrs. P. O. Long, Mrs. Paul Cushing, all from Upland and Ontario. Mrs. Fred Wing of Glendale, Mrs. E. B. Reynolds of Fullerton, Mrs. Anna Myers of Hollywood, and Mrs. Gordon C. Day of Inglewood, former members, are all expected to be present today at the Eymann home.

NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB ENTERTAINED—

A very delightful time was enjoyed on Wednesday by members of the Neighborhood Club, when they met at the home of Mrs. W. E. Boulton, 406 Euclid Avenue, several guests also being present at the pleasant affair.

Mrs. Frank Carrow, sister of the hostess, recently arrived from Phoenix for a visit, was delighted to renew her acquaintance with Upland friends, and other guests included Mrs. F. A. Perhamus of Caledonia, N.Y.; Mrs. Wallace, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Berry, and E. Schnable, mother of Mrs. S. H. Yahres of Wilson Avenue.

Members present were Mrs. H. G. Koster, Mrs. Frank Van Natta, Mrs. C. J. Coe, Mrs. R. F. Lemon, Mrs. Charles V. Barr, Mrs. T. W. Nisbet, Mrs. George T. Stamm, Mrs. Nellie Mason, Mrs. C. E. Grier, Mrs. Clyde J. Bryant, Mrs. C. S. Lawson, Mrs. William Mason, Mrs. Harlow S. Wilson, Mrs. S. H. Yahres, Mrs. J. M. Berry, Mrs. George Hall.

SOCIETY

PROGRAM BY LOCAL WOMEN—

A very entertaining program has been planned for the meeting of the Upland Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, in their clubrooms at the Upland Hotel. Music, art and literature will be featured by the various members, who will assist in giving the program. Those already secured to take part are Mrs. Lynnward Grahame, vocal solos; Mrs. C. W. Hayes, talk on the present art exhibit in the clubrooms, and Mrs. Fred McMullen will give readings. Mrs. R. H. Henderson, chairman of the music committee, wishes to announce that tickets for the coming concert on the evening of March 3rd, will be on sale and any member wishing to procure tickets may do so. The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. E. W. Elliott, Mrs. Alice Erickson and Mrs. Jedd Sawyer.

MR. AND MRS. DOWNING ENTERTAIN—

Mr. and Mrs. Addis H. Downing were hosts on Wednesday evening at their West Twenty-second St. home at a delightful bridge supper given in honor of Mrs. James Van S. Barrett of St. Louis, Mo., who is a guest of her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. George Byron Ford, Jr., at their Mountain Avenue home.

Sweet peas were used in decoration and a delicious supper followed the tournament. Mrs. Harry B. Harlow, Mrs. Donald Briggs, Blake Garrison and W. S. Fenton captured the prizes.

The guest list included Mrs. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Ford, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Combs, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Briggs, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Harlow, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde DuVall, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Fenton, Mr. and Mrs. Guilford Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Stearns Ingalls, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Titus, Mr. and Mrs. E. Blake Garrison.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN TO MEET AT EBELL CLUB—

Saturday, March 14th, is the date for the next meeting of members of the American Association of University Women, and a luncheon will be given at twelve-thirty at the Ebell Club in Pomona, followed by a most interesting program.

A speaker has been secured from the faculty of Occidental College who will talk on "The Relations between the United States and Mexico."

CREOLE DAYS REVIEWED—

Mrs. Duncan Crooks gave a most interesting review of George Cable's book, "The Grandissimes," dealing with creole life in New Orleans, at the regular meeting of the Study Section of the Upland Woman's Club, held on Wednesday at the hotel. In an entertaining manner Mrs. Crooks brought out the high points of the book, and dwelt on the social usages, the various superstitions, and the general life of the creole in the early part of last century. Her talk was very much enjoyed by the thirty members present.

Mrs. W. S. Avery was hostess, and after the program many stayed to see the exhibition of pictures still on display in the club room.

The next meeting of the Study Section will be on March 4th, when Mrs. William Rohrig will be hostess, and Mrs. T. W. Nisbet in charge of the program.

UPLARIO CLUB ENTERTAINS—

Members of the Uplario Club entertained their husbands and families at a very jolly supper party on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Dean, East Seventh Street, following an afternoon meeting of the club.

Tables laden with good things to eat, seated twenty-nine guests, and full justice was done to the excellent menu. Old-fashioned games were indulged in afterwards, and such a delightful time spent that the husbands all begged for another invitation soon.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Kirk and son, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Edwards and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Devers, Mrs. F. L. Warburton and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Luke and son, Mrs. W. L. Klier and sons, Court Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Bailey of Pomona, Mr. and Mrs. Dean and family.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE ON MRS. SIKES—

Mrs. C. M. Sikes was most happily surprised at her home in Ontario on Thursday by relatives who arrived shortly before the noon hour with a birthday cake and all the trimmings for a lunch.

Mrs. Sikes is a young looking grandmother, so no more need be said about her age. An enjoyable hour was spent around the lunch table, after which the guests went their various ways. Those who helped to celebrate were Mrs. Ella V. Bradford, Miss Lulu Bradford, Miss Jennie Smith, Mrs. F. H. Manker, Mrs. Heber Clewett of Chino and two children, Mrs. Chas. V. Benson, Dorothy, Jeanne and Jimmie Benson, and Miss Marjorie Sikes.

COMPLIMENTING NIECE FROM KANSAS—

In honor of Miss Emma Lady, their niece, who leaves for Kansas tomorrow, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Engle were hosts at a delightful affair on Thursday, at their First Avenue home, the evening being spent in games and merry conversation.

Bouquets of violets were used in decoration and with sprays of smilax, were most effective. Late in the evening delicious refreshments were served, and much time was occupied by matching verses enclosed in nuts.

Those present were Miss Lady, Misses Roberta and Lois Frey, Miss Mabel Engle, Miss Carrie Smith, Miss Ada Hiese, Miss Mary Evans, Miss Elizabeth Hershey, Miss Fannie Bert, Miss Ruth Eyster, Miss Anna Eyster, Miss Vera Fike, Miss Lydia Rogers, David Hall, Paul Engle, Ernest Frey, Clotilde Navlor.

BRIDGE TEA BY GREENS COMMITTEE—

Acacia blossoms and baskets of wild yellow flowers were used with artistic effect on Wednesday at the Red Hill Country Club, when a large number of guests gathered to enjoy an afternoon of auction bridge, the occasion being the regular monthly bridge tea given by the Woman's Greens Committee of the club.

Prizes for high score were awarded at each table at the end of the tournament, and a delightful social hour followed over the tea cups. On the committee are Mrs. Paul W. Nichols, Mrs. L. A. Weller, Mrs. Leigh Thompson, Mrs. W. H. Craig, Jr., and Mrs. C. E. Smith-Neill.

HOSPITAL BENEFIT IS MARKED SUCCESS—

West End Society was out in force yesterday afternoon for the benefit bridge tea of the San Antonio Community Hospital Women's Auxiliary, and as a result of the affair close to $230 was added to a fund for the purchase of additional laboratory equipment for the new hospital. The event was staged at The Sycamores and sixty tables were made up for the card tournament.

With the use of peach boughs laden with delicate pink blossoms, sweet peas, jonquils, and other flowers and foliage, the spacious lobby and dining room of the attractive inn had been transformed for the occasion into a veritable spring garden.

At the close of the afternoon's play the holder of the high score at each table was presented with a dainty voile kerchief as a prize, the work of members of the committee in charge of the affair.

Following the tournament a delicious collation was served and presiding at the tea urns were Mrs. Caroline Vermilye, Mrs. Edward C. Harwood, Mrs. Earl W. Paul and Mrs. Earl H. Richardson. All the refreshments, including countless toothsome home-made cakes, were the gifts of society women interested in the welfare of the new hospital, and the use of The Sycamores was donated for the occasion by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baldwin, who also rendered the committee valuable aid in preparing for the event.

Through the efforts of Mrs. S. Earl Blakeslee and the courtesy of the performers, music by a stringed orchestra was enjoyed during the serving of tea, adding greatly to the pleasure of the social hour. Those who contributed their talent for the benefit of the afternoon's success were Miss Dorothy Rollins, Miss Eileen Skillman, Miss Eleanor Skillman and Miss Harriett Hiller of Chaffey Union High School Orchestra.

Miss Ardis Richardson, as chairman of the entertainment committee, deserves a great deal of praise for the successful way in which the entire affair was handled, and enough credit cannot be given to those who so efficiently aided her in all the preparations.

While every member helped the other, special attention to details was given by the following: Mrs. Leigh Thompson, refreshments; Mrs. J. A. Armstrong, table decorations and arrangements; Mrs. Earl Johnson, decorations of lobby, reception and dining rooms; Mrs. Meredith, distribution of prizes; Mrs. A. B. Whitney and Mrs. Earl Blakeslee being more than generous with their time and energy, as well as taking care of the musical program.

COLONIAL TEA FOR D. A. R.—

In accordance with a long-standing custom, Miss Aurelia S. Harwood will entertain members of the San Antonio Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, with a Colonial Tea at her home on North Euclid Avenue on Monday, in celebration of Washington's birthday.

Guests will appear in gowns of the period and the program will be in keeping with early Colonial times.

The women folk who were stopping on the gas all last summer, should not forget how to step on the sewing machine treadle this winter.

LOYDS AGAIN ON TRIAL AT GATE CITY

Repudiating almost in its entirety the story of Dr. A. D. Hubbell, county veterinarian, as to what took place at the Loyd home the night of July 22, 1924, Dr. Jeanette Loyd and her husband, Dr. Raymond B. Loyd, chiropractors, of San Bernardino, co-defendants on the charge of extortion, brought by Dr. Hubbell, yesterday took the stand in their own defense.

On only one point does the testimony of the complaining witness, Dr. Hubbell, and that of the defendants agree. Dr. Hubbell was present at the Loyd home that night and was struck on the head by Dr. Loyd. Dr. Hubbell admits the fact, the Loyds admit it and counsel for both sides are agreed on the matter. Otherwise there are no points of agreement between stories of accused and accuser or between counsel of either sides in the introduction of testimony.

Attorneys Clash on Testimony Sharp clashes between opposing counsel over the introduction of testimony marked the second day of the sensational extortion trial. Repeated efforts by Attorney T. J. Martin for the defense, to introduce testimony tending to show previous alleged attempts of Dr. Hubbell to establish intimate relations with Mrs. Loyd were successfully opposed by the prosecution. In particular, a trip to Grass Valley alleged to have been participated in last June by Dr. Hubbell, Mrs. Loyd and others was not allowed by the court to be introduced.

Superior Judge Charles L. Allison held to his ruling of the day previous, refusing to allow the introduction of any testimony not concerned directly with the alleged events of the night of July 22, and what occurred immediately prior to and following the alleged extortion attempt.

Sheriff W. A. Shay and Deputy Sheriff Ernest Leffen were closing witnesses for the prosecution at the resumption of the trial yesterday morning.

Defense Loses Non-suit Motion Defense counsel immediately requested the court to instruct the jury to return directed verdict of not guilty on the grounds that the prosecution had not presented sufficient evidence to corroborate the charge of extortion. This request was denied by Judge Allison.

As the first witness for the defense, Mrs. Loyd then took the stand. In a voice at times trembling with emotion, and tears threatening at frequent intervals, she related her version of the events of that excitable night of July 22.

Denying that she had met Dr. Hubbell on the highway and "drugged" him to her home on a pretext of examining a sick goat, Mrs. Loyd related at length her movements, as she asserts, from the time she left her office in the city to final events of the day following, when detained by Sheriff Shay.

A jolly motor crowd of the men, their wives and sweethearts employed at the Ford Garage on Second Avenue, drove to Los Angeles on Wednesday night as guests of C. E. Puckett, manager of the garage, at a theatre and supper party.

Everyone left here at six o'clock, and arrived in Los Angeles in time for the first show at the Orpheum, which was enjoyed by all.

Those invited to share the fun were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martins, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bull, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rowand, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lamb, Mrs. Puckett, Miss Stella Wright, Miss Mary Perry, Miss Katherine Holloway, Messrs. Joe Teuscher, Toby Liles, Ralph Almquist, Ross Witt, Roy Thudum, Elcott Dew.

FLAG TOURNAMENT ON GOLF COURSE MONDAY

A flag tournament for men will be held on Monday at the Red Hill Country Club, in celebration of Washington's birthday.

There is a small entrance fee. In the afternoon a mixed foursome tournament will take place.

W. C. CLINE GIVES ROTARY CRAFT TALK

W. C. Cline, Upland's pioneer stone, cement and brick contractor, made the second speech of his business career Tuesday, when he gave his craft talk before the Rotary Club, of which Mr. Cline is a new member.

"Bill," as he is known among his many friends, told of the early days of the business, and how the coming of cement changed the business in which he has been engaged for so many years. Although cement was at first so high as to be almost prohibitive in building, it finally took its place among building materials and has become widely used wherever building is going on.

Weller Returns L. A. Weller, who underwent a minor operation in Los Angeles last week, was able to attend the Rotary luncheon Tuesday and received a royal welcome.

Visit Allen Moser Following the dinner Tuesday noon several Rotarians called on Allen Moser, who has been ill for several months. The occasion was his birthday and the club presented him with a table, which he will find useful both as a desk and for reading. The visit of the members was greatly appreciated by Mr. Moser.

WANTS DAMAGES FOR WIFE'S DEATH

Damages of $50,700 for the death of Mrs. Frances Jane Harmon, killed in a traffic accident in Ontario on Dec. 28, 1924, were asked in a suit filed in the superior court Wednesday by Arthur Merritt Harmon against Edward J. McGready, an automobile man.

Mrs. Harmon was fatally injured when struck by an automobile driven by McGready as she was crossing Euclid Avenue at the A Street intersection, according to the complaint on file. She died two hours later.

Son Joins Father in Litigation In the litigation, little Arthur Mayfield Harmon, the six-year-old son of Mrs. Harmon, is a plaintiff with his father against McGready. Mrs. Harmon was 26 years old, and for the loss of her companion-ship and love, the father and son ask $50,000 exemplary damages. They also demand $700 expenses incurred in hospital and funeral bills.

In the complaint, Harmon, the husband, alleges that McGready was negligently operating his automobile and was directly responsible for the fatal accident. Attorney Daley S. Stafford of Los Angeles represents the plaintiffs.

GENE GRIER NEW REALTY PRESIDENT

The Upland Realty Board held its annual meeting yesterday at the office of Perschbacher & Blohm, realtors, the principal business before the board being the election of officers of the board for the coming year.

The election resulted as follows: Gene Grier, president; J. B. Perschbacher, vice president; H. O. Blohm, secretary and treasurer, and F. B. Chaffee, state director.

One of the witnesses before a grand jury appointed to inquire into a case of alleged bribery in a local election stated that he had received $25 to vote Republican and in cross-examination it was elicited that he had also received $25 to vote Democrat.

The jury foreman, in amazement, repeated:

"You say you received $25 to vote Republican?"

"Yes, sir."

"And you also received $25 to vote Democrat?"

"Yes, sir."

"And for whom did you vote at the finish?"

The witness, with injured dignity in every line of his face, answered with great earnestness:

"I voted according to my conscience!"

"I think I'll go to church next Sunday."

"Well, what can happen? Is it Go-to-Church Sunday?"

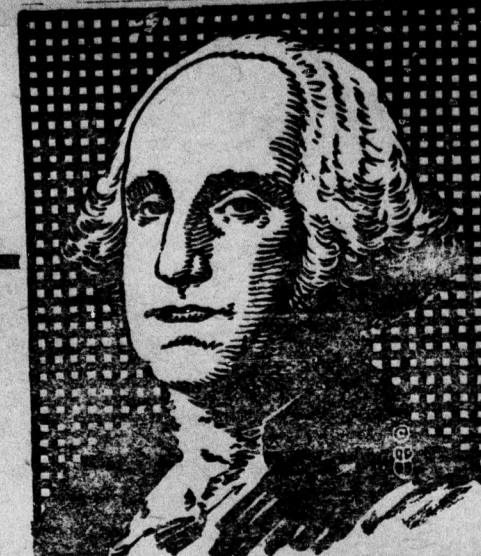

"Nope; I want to get rid of a Canadian quarter."

George Washington

To whose memory we pay homage this week, sets an example of what perseverance and determination can accomplish in one's life. His was the determination that this great land of ours should be free and independent of all foreign allegiance and his wonderful leadership and persistency in aiming for that goal—in 1776—made possible that freedom we now enjoy.

Emulate his example in your every-day life. Be determined that your future should be as bright and happy as you can make it and free of financial worries of any kind. It can be done with Savings Account in this great bank.

Around Our Town

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Eymann and family are planning on visiting the Orange Show this evening.

Mrs. Frank Carrow arrived from Phoenix, Arizona, this week for a visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Boulton of Euclid Avenue.

Mrs. Alice Erickson has as guests at her home on East Ninth Street Mr. and Mrs. Van Riper, who arrived yesterday from Slaprock, Michigan, for a visit.

Mrs. C. W. Hayes returned on Wednesday from Los Angeles, accompanied by three guests, the four women enjoying the bridge party given by the San Antonio Hospital Auxiliary yesterday afternoon at The Sycamores.

Two bills before the state legislature are receiving the attention of local business interests. Assembly bill No. 625 is being supported as it deals with the check artist. The bill makes an insufficient fund check prima facie evidence. Senate Bill No. 164 is being opposed as it makes property to the extent of $2,000 exempt from execution.

Mrs. Martin will serve home-cooked meals at 334 Euclid Ave. at reasonable prices. Phone 16-J. 81-t-2

Members of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Mark's parish will meet on Monday afternoon at two-thirty at the home of Mrs. G. A. Hanson, 559 Euclid Avenue. Every one is requested to be present and come prepared to sew.

Miss Vera McLaren of East Ninth Street left on Monday for San Diego, where she is attending Normal School.

H. C. VanDusen of the postoffice force enjoyed a day off yesterday from his official duties.

Funeral services for Gullick Mogedall, who died here a week ago, and whose body was originally to have been sent to Washington state for burial, were held here at Draper's chapel this morning. The Rev. C. A. Kent of the First Methodist Church, officiating. A daughter, Mrs. Marie Herberg arrived this morning from Seattle to take charge of her father's affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Yates and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Greely of Osakas, Minn., and Mrs. Mary Dietz of Seattle, Wash., are guests for a few days of Judge and Mrs. George R. Crane, 467 First Avenue. The Yates and Cranes were neighbors in Minnesota, and the former have spent several winters in California, visiting the Cranes each time and keeping up their friendship.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Everett and family motored to the Orange Show last night, witnessing the opening of one of the most attractive and beautifully decorated exhibitions held by the National Orange Show Association.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gregg, of East Tenth Street, have returned from a few days' visit in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Roth, who have been spending several weeks at the Tigra Apartments on East Ninth Streets, have returned to their home in Noble, Iowa. Mr. and Mrs. Roth have toured Oregon and California, and like Upland better than any other place they have visited. They hope to return in the fall.

Mrs. Henry Klindt and daughter, Mrs. Pauline Jacobs, motored to Riverside on Wednesday, spending part of the day at Fairmount Park.

F. H. Manker, president of the Upland Chamber of Commerce, and P. H. McQuillen spent yesterday afternoon at the Orange Show in San Bernardino, putting the finishing touches to Upland's artistic display of fruit.

Willis C. Mehl and C. E. Puckett motored to Alhambra yesterday to enjoy a game of golf.

Dr. J. H. Dawson of Pomona was an Upland visitor yesterday, greeting many friends on the streets.

Home-made Cakes, Pies, Doughnuts at St. Mark's Food Sale tomorrow, all day. Benson's old store, Ninth Street. 82-t-1

Mrs. Charles Allen and Mrs. H. L. Nafus attended the opening of the Fifteenth National Orange Show at San Bernardino last night, enjoying the exhibit very much. They were guests of Mrs. Allen's sister, Mrs. Mark Shaw, for the night, returning to Upland today.

Little Mildred Conrad, who fell down the side of the Santa Ana Canyon last Sunday, receiving severe injuries, is still in the San Antonio Hospital, but is recovering in a satisfactory manner. The little patient was delighted to receive a bouquet of flowers from the Rotary Club during the early part of her stay in the hospital.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Hadley, 651 East Nevada St., Ontario, a baby girl, on Wednesday, at the San Antonio Hospital.

R. C. Norton, vice-president of the Commercial National Bank, was the chief speaker before members of the El Camino Club when they met in regular session in the Chaffey Library Tuesday evening. Mr. Norton spoke on the oil industry, as did C. L. Tuttle of Ontario. Ladies' night will feature the next meeting of the club in March.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Eyer and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Engle are planning to drive to Santa Ana on Monday and spend the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eyer, who have moved there from Los Angeles. Mr. Eyer, Jr., is in the real estate business and considers Santa Ana a good field.

Japanese Association of San Bernardino County will give a dinner in honor of the Fifteenth National Orange Show next Sunday at noon at the A.B.C. Cafe, in San Bernardino. Prominent Japanese officials, as well as county and city officials, will attend. Joy R. Kusumoto, secretary of the association, is in charge of arrangements.

While most people were slumbering sweetly yesterday morning the fire siren called the Upland Volunteer Fire Department from their warm and downy couches to put out a fire at the home of Dean P. J. Weibe on Third Avenue. The fire was caused by a small heater being placed too close to a curtain, which caught alight and scorched the wall before being discovered. The fire boys responded with their usual promptness, preventing further damage by their quickness of action.

Among those registered at the Upland Hotel are George Hayes, C. M. Milton and C. Doran, all of Los Angeles.

Miss Anna Wedel is a business visitor in Los Angeles today.

Mrs. George Barlow, accompanied by friends, is spending the day at the Orange Show in San Bernardino, and also visiting at the Mission Inn, Riverside.

Mrs. M. J. Roberts of East Ninth Street, who has been in Los Angeles visiting her daughter, Mrs. Spicer, while undergoing treatment for her eyes, has returned to her home here for a few days. She is planning a visit to her son, John Roberts, at Santa Ana shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Allen and family motored to Los Angeles on Sunday, where they spent a very enjoyable day.

N. C. Weaver, accompanied by his mother, left on Wednesday over the Santa Fe for El Centro, Texas.

Miss Georgia Johnson of Fourth Avenue is spending this week in Los Angeles the guest of friends.

Don't forget St. Mark's Food Sale tomorrow at Benson's former store, Ninth Street. 82-t-1

Mrs. Henry Rowan of Ontario left over the Santa Fe on Wednesday for Lowell, Mass., called there by the illness of her sister.

Mrs. Jennie Chadwick and her guest, Mrs. Mary Schultz, of Seattle, Washington, were visitors in Los Angeles on Wednesday, where they spent the day shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Poole of Harbor Springs, Michigan, who are wintering in Southern California, are week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Lemon at their Euclid Avenue home.

R. C. Robinson left yesterday for Dauphin, Manitoba, after spending some time here.

Mrs. Sara Redmon and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. G. T. Redmon, spent Wednesday in Los Angeles on a shopping trip.

Just arrived, a shipment of Stamped Checked Gingham House Dresses, fast colors, $1.25—Upland Art Shoppe, Ninth Street. 82-t-1

The first anniversary of the Omaha Luncheon Club was held in Los Angeles on Wednesday at The Rex Arms, at which Mrs. C. W. Hayes of the Upland Hotel was one of the 85 guests. The decorative color scheme was green and gold, and spring flowers were used in artistic display. Luncheon was served by girls gowned in colonial costumes and a musical program was enjoyed in the afternoon.

CHILDREN GUESTS AT "PETER PAN"

A wonderful treat was afforded the children at the David and Margaret Home at LaVerne yesterday, when they saw a matinee performance of "Peter Pan" at the Colonial Theatre, through the kindness of Manager A. M. Fielding and George E. Bunker. The latter drove over to LaVerne with one of the Chaffey school busses and it was soon filled with a group of happy, laughing children who had almost as much fun in the anticipation of the "treat" as in the real thing itself.

Candies and favors were distributed among the children at the conclusion of the picture, many of whom had their belief in fairies strengthened, not only by "Peter Pan," but by the kindness of Messrs. Fielding and Bunker, who were responsible for the arrangement.

BALDY CITRUS IN ANNUAL MEETING

Shipments during the calendar year of 1924 of 135 cars of oranges and 80 cars of lemons brought member growers of the Old Baldy Citrus Association a net return of $115,000, according to the report of Manager S. E. Skidmore at the annual meeting of members at the packing house in East Nineteenth Street. While the receipts were less than for the preceding year, when the total was $150,000, this was due to the fact that a greater volume of oranges and less lemons were shipped during 1923. The Old Baldy Association is anticipating a total shipment for the present year of 175 carloads of oranges and 100 carloads of lemons.

Elected to the board of directors for the coming year at the meeting were Earl W. Paul, E. S. Gosney, George B. Harrison, T. R. Woodbridge, A. T. Hamilton, C. B. Sherwood and Hugh H. Crawford. The board will meet to organize on March 3, at which time attention will be given to the amendment of the bylaws relative to the revolving funds of the association.

ENGLISHMAN WRITES FOR INFORMATION

Another bit of evidence identifying Joseph H. Watts as the man who started across the country with Wilfred Hey, whose slain body was found on the desert near Silver Lake on Dec. 26, was received Wednesday by Sheriff Walter A. Shay from England.

Learning that Hey was slain, his brother-in-law, Edward Davis, of Warrington, Lancashire, England, forwarded a letter to Coroner J. B. Hanna asking for information of the case. In the letter the brother-in-law asserts that Hey left Detroit with "a young man named Joseph." The letter also reveals that approximately $1,760 was cashed Hey in October, a few years before he began his trip across the country that led to an unmarked grave.

Hey came from England. Hey, it has been definitely established, was a former resident of England and came to the United States to seek his fortune. Hey's body was exhumed Monday by Deputy Coroner Emmett Waters and Sheriff Shay, and is held at the Stephens & Bobbitt mortuary, where an autopsy will be conducted. Watts is held in the county jail under charges of murder.

The letter from the brother-in-law in England follows: "I have today, through the offices of the Union Bank of Manchester, seen the correspondence passed between your office at the People's Bank of Detroit with reference to the body of a white man found in your state, who, it is presumed, is Wilfred Hey. "I may say that I am the brother-in-law of Wilfred Hey, and the last communication we received from him was the end of November, written by him from Salt Lake City on his way by motor accompanied by a young man named Joseph, who was taking my brother-in-law to Los Angeles to find him work with this man's brother, who I understand was in business there as a plumber."

Heard For Safety of Hey. "We have had no further communication from him and were beginning to feel anxious about his safety. On Oct. 22 we cabled to him 85 pounds and again on Oct. 31 a further 267 pounds, and of the receipt of the latter we have received no acknowledgement. "We fear very much that the person found is Wilfred Hey and we should like to know if it is possible for you to give us the following information:

"1. Full detailed report of the coroner's findings. "2. Copy of death certificate. "3. State of body when found; what effects were on the body. "4. Did the body display any marks of violence and, if so, what steps have been taken in the matter? "5. Did Wilfred Hey arrive in Los Angeles? "6. Who wired on Dec. 1 to the People's State Bank of Detroit and who signed for the money? "7. Have the police interviewed the Watts brothers for information on the tragedy? "I regret the distance prevents us making the trip to California to investigate for ourselves, but feel sure you will readily agree to favor us with all the information required and if there should be any suggestion of foul play, to make every possible step to bring the culprit to justice."

"Yours faithfully, "EDWARD DAVIS."

Arrested on Check Charge. J. D. Boyd, who is on probation from the Riverside juvenile court and who has been living in Upland and Ontario for the past few months, was yesterday held to answer to the superior court on a charge of passing fictitious checks following his preliminary examination in Judge G. R. Crane's court.

Deputy District Attorney Stanley Mussel was here for the prosecution while Boyd had no defense. The accused was arrested on complaint of J. L. Grahame, of Grahame's Service Station, and charged with giving a check for $5.00 in payment of purchases, which later proved to be a fictitious one. Other Upland merchants were victimized in the same way by Boyd, and it is said he also issued bad checks in Ontario and Pomona. Riverside authorities advised that Boyd be sent to a reformatory for violating his parole, but as he is now of age, San Bernardino County officials decided he should be given a hearing in the superior court instead of the juvenile one.

As Boyd was unable to put up $1,000 for bail, he was ordered held in jail to await his trial before the superior court of this county.

Upland Post No. 73 American Legion wishes to thank all the merchants of the town for their support and co-operation in buying the flags for decorating our city on patriotic occasions. We feel that those who purchased them will be proud of the effect the business section of the town will make when the flags are all displayed. Monday, February 23rd, will be our first opportunity to have the flags in place, honoring the legal holiday for Washington's birthday, so please don't fail to have yours flying. The etiquette of the flag demands that it should be flown all day, but taken down at sunset.

Buddies, don't forget the informal meetings held at the clubhouse every Monday evening.

The next Inter-Post County Council meeting will be held at The Sycamores on Tuesday evening, Feb. 24th, when the Upland boys will be hosts. The meeting will begin with a dinner as usual, and you are pleased asked to notify Adjutant Alfred Leding if you can attend.

DR. FOSTER ATTENDS GATE CITY MEETING

Dr. Bert Foster, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, attended a clerics' meeting in San Bernardino on Wednesday, held at St. John's Church, at which many clergy in this district were present.

Rev. Stephen Clark of Pomona was the principal speaker, and read an interesting paper.

The time was devoted to discussion of matters of interest to all present.

The visiting clergy were entertained at luncheon by the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Mainmann at the rectory.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS WILL CLOSE MONDAY

According to announcement today by Miss Fannie Noe, the Upland grammar schools will observe Monday, February 23, as a holiday, and there will be a vacation session from Friday until Tuesday, when the three schools, Tenth, Eighteenth and Sierra Vista, will resume work as usual.

ONTARIO NEWS

How two men wearing olive drab uniforms and posing as Los Angeles county traffic officers, searched his car and his clothing on a road between this city and Los Angeles early Wednesday morning and extracted $10 from a wallet which he carried, was recited to the Ontario—police by Frank F. Young, of 2311 Fargo Street, Los Angeles.

Young lost his way in a dense fog, according to his report to the police, and flagged another machine for directions back to the Valley Boulevard. In the other car were the two supposed officers, who asked him what he had in his automobile.

Young replied that he had only a valise containing clothing. This, the two men proceeded to search. They then went through his clothing and extracted a pocketbook, which they carried to their own car for examination, later returning it. It was not until Young stopped at a filling station to buy gasoline that he discovered that a $10 bill had been taken from his pocketbook. He stated that he could identify the men.

Defendants Win

In the suit of Mrs. A. Mary Bowden against George L. Gearhart, J. E. Kettering and N. B. Hanna, to collect damages in the amount of $158.18, growing out of a three-cornered motor car accident at A Street and Monte Vista Avenue, on the night of March 4, 1924, which occupied the greater part of Tuesday afternoon in Judge George R. Holbrook's court, a verdict was rendered in favor of the defense.

The verdict held that the plaintiff, who was represented by Attorney Clifford Gruea of the Automobile Club of Southern California, was entitled to nothing, and the defendants were allowed costs of action.

In the accident, a car driven by Gearhart, according to the testimony, ran into the rear of a truck belonging to Hanna, and the Gearhart car was then struck by a machine driven by Mrs. Bowden. Attorney A. O. Dillon of Ontario represented Gearhart, and Attorney J. L. McCutcheon of Los Angeles appeared for Hanna.

Jones Re-elected

Assemblyman Isaac Jones will again serve the Ontario Welfare League as its president during the ensuing year, it was announced yesterday afternoon, following the annual election of officers at the city hall.

Other officers chosen for the year were Mrs. George T. Barr, first vice-president; Mrs. Katherine Berry, second vice-president, and Mrs. C. L. McClelland, secretary-treasurer. Directors of welfare work in the various portions of the city, which has been divided into districts for the purpose, are Mrs. G. J. Fleming, in charge of the Latin quarter; Mrs. W. F. G. Blake, Mrs. Samuel H. Gardner, Mrs. David Bryant and Mrs. A. H. Heyden.

Other members of the League board, which are appointed by the various charitable and church organizations of the city, include Mrs. Charles Pifer, Mrs. Amy M. Hutton, Mrs. J. F. Snider, Mrs. A. T. Hamilton, Mrs. Lily McClelland, Mrs. John Blair, Mrs. C. C. Grier, Mrs. George B. Sell, C. Burton Thrall, W. W. Coke, George T. Barr and Dr. S. P. S. Edwards. Reports of the work directors at the city hall meeting showed a total of 19 families aided by the League during the month of January. Of this total, 16 were local American families, only three Mexican families requiring aid. Of considerable gratification to members of the board was the markedly improved conditions among the Mexican population, they having been greatly aided through the activities in connection with the Sultana Avenue School. A sewing circle has been organized there and a sort of community center established at the school.

In most of the instances where aid was given by the League, its necessity was found to be due to sickness and non-employment. One case was reported in which a father had had no work for five months and the mother of the family was ill. Milk was furnished to four new families, 13 children were provided with new shoes, one boy was given a new suit and three needy mothers were presented with layettes. One needy woman was given house rent and four families received nursing service.

Work On New Park

Landscaping details of the new municipal park which is being laid out on the city's forty-acre tract in East Fourth Street, were gone over at first hand by the Ontario Chamber of Commerce committee in charge, when they made a trip to the tract and went over the ground Tuesday afternoon.

A map of the proposed park has been prepared under the direction of Charles J. Booth, dean of the Chaffey Junior College of Agriculture, and the committee, armed with this, went over the ground relative to the best location for driveways and tree and shrub clusters.

Making the trip to the park site beside Mr. Booth were City Service Manager O. S. Roen, the Rev. John B. Toomay, H. I. DeBerard and B. W. Spencer, chamber of commerce secretary.

Tells Negro School

How the Piney Woods School for negroes, at Braxton, Miss., had progressed in the space of a few short years from open-air classes beneath the trees, followed shortly by a log cabin school house, until today the institution is valued at more than $100,000, was told in interesting fashion Wednesday afternoon by Laurence C. Jones, its founder and principal, in a talk before the Lions Club at Hotel Casa Blanca.

Jones, himself a negro, early decided that he would have an education, and following his graduation from the University of Iowa, set about in a determined fashion to help others of his race to improve their condition.

His recital of the courses given by the Piney Woods School and of the institution's commencement exercises proved interesting and highly entertaining. The Lions were also favored with vocal selections by a girls' quartet from the school, which is touring the country in the interests of the school and which was Tuesday night heard in concert at Bethel Congregational Church.

Fred Clapp gave an interesting birthday talk in which he told of boyhood experiences in Kansas and Oklahoma, including his witnessing of the rush of homesteaders to the settlement of the Cherokee strip of the former Indian Territory.

Club visitors included Sidney Herzberg, Austin Grant and J. C. Bevels of Ontario and Jack Knight, Redlands Lion. Harry I. DeBerard was chairman of the luncheon meeting.

Music at Forum

With S. Earle Blakeslee, talented head of the music department of Chaffey High School and Junior College, as program chairman, members of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce were afforded a musical treat Tuesday afternoon at their weekly forum luncheon meeting at the Hotpoint Club.

Mr. Blakeslee presented a Junior College male quartet, numbering Ned Francis, Milo Vickery, Ted MacLaren and Ord Toomey, which is to play a prominent part in the Chaffey Minstrel Show to be presented at Chaffey Auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings. These young men were heard in quartet and solo work with Mr. Blakeslee as piano accompanist, and called forth much enthusiastic applause from their appreciative audience.

Mr. Francis, baritone, opened the musical program with a charming Irish number, "Garryowen," and was followed by the quartet in "Sunrise and You." Mr. Vickery was heard in a bass solo, "The Armorer," and the program closed with a second number by the quartet, "I Gathered a Rose."

Howard M. Shattuck, chamber president, opened the meeting and turned it over to Mr. Blakeslee.

REDUCE GRADES ON BIG BEAR ROAD

Reducing of the grades and widening of the road is expected to place the City Creek Canyon route to Fredalaba and Big Bear Valley in the best condition in its history, it was declared today by County Highway Commissioner James Cole. While the road is not open for travel at the present time it should be ready for early summer travel to the mountains, Mr. Cole said.

The highway will be paved from Highland avenue to a point one-half mile north of the turn off this highway. Crushed rock has been placed on the road as a bedding for the paving and this work will be completed within a short time.

Leaving the paved portion of the road the motorists will continue to encounter a good surfaced road, Cole said. The road has been widened and there will be few places in which machines can not pass without difficulty. The grades have been reduced materially.

The heaviest grade on the entire route is not expected to be more than 14 per cent and this is the sharp turn a short distance above Dutch John's Ranch where it is impracticable to reduce the grade without rebuilding that portion of the road.

The Deep Creek Cutoff to Big Bear Valley is being reworked by the State Highway Commission and is expected to be in far better condition than last summer. While the majority of this road was widened last year certain sections are being made wider for the coming summer travel.

With good weather conditions the work mapped out by the county for the City Creek Canyon road should be completed in ample time for early summer travel, Cole said.

TELLS BOULDER DAM ADVANTAGES

By Former Senator W. J. Carr

One of the five great benefits to flow from a major development at Boulder Canyon is an additional domestic water supply for Southern California cities. The need of this, for some time recognized by those familiar with the water resources of this section, has become plain to all by the occurrence of the cycle of dry years now being experienced. Available water resources set a limit to growth and development. Southern California is rapidly approaching the limit thus fixed. Hence the importance of seeking additional water.

Existing sources along the coast, with minor exceptions, have been exhausted. The Colorado is the only place to go. But to get water from the Colorado requires large storage, such as can be secured only through the full utilization of the great natural reservoir site at Boulder Canyon.

Why is such storage necessary?

First: The normal flow of the Colorado River is at the present time entirely appropriated and used. Imperial Irrigation District has its point of diversion below Yuma. Last year for seventy-six days, it took all of the water of the river which reached that point. The river bed below its headwaters was dry. Even then, the Imperial Valley did not have enough water to take care of its crops, and suffered heavy crop losses. There are large areas of irrigable land, as yet undeveloped, lying in proximity to the river, which have a moral, if not legal, first claim to the waters of the river. It is only by a complete conservation of all of the flood or waste waters of the river that there will be enough to supply irrigation needs along the river and of the needs of the cities of the coastal plain of Southern California. To effect such conservation, obviously requires very large storage, large enough to hold and store both the seasonal and annual floods of the river.

Second: To bring water 250 miles across the desert to the coast means that the water must be pumped to an elevation of at least 1200 feet. The Colorado carries a heavy burden of silt. Silt is very injurious to pumping machinery. To render pumping feasible, the water must be largely desilted. A large dam and reservoir at Boulder—Canyon some 100 miles or more above the proposed point of diversion will largely accomplish this desilting process. Some very eminent engineers are of the opinion that after the dam is built, the river below will become a comparatively clear mountain stream. Even if their expectation is not fully realized, the river will be sufficiently desilted to make pumping feasible.

Third: The so-called Colorado River Compact, already approved by six of the seven states of the Colorado River basin, makes it possible and lawful for Colorado, Wyoming and Utah to use and hold back all of the water of the river for a year or more. This compact, or something similar to it, will probably ultimately be made effective. It would be absurd for the cities of Southern California to incur the heavy expense necessary to construct an aqueduct from the Colorado River to the coast only to find that when a cycle of dry years comes around and they most need water from the Colorado, the upper states, in the exercise of their rights, have held back all the water and that none is available. Holdover storage is essential for this reason.

For these three fundamental reasons, then, large storage is a prerequisite to securing a domestic water supply from the Colorado. A low flood control dam or a series of low power dams, such as are sometimes urged, will not answer. For another reason, too, the project or plan of a domestic water supply from the Colorado is intimately related to a major development at Boulder Canyon. A large block of power will be necessary to pump the water to the elevation required. The cost of the water will depend to a considerable degree upon the cost of this power. The Boulder Canyon project means the neces-cheap power.

While the Boulder Canyon project is thus necessary to the success of the domestic water supply project, the latter greatly strengthens the Boulder Canyon project by adding substantially to the market for the power privileges at the dam. It is from the disposal of these that the cost of the dam must be met.

A good many people have gotten the idea that since Southern California cities need domestic water from the Colorado, Congress, upon this ground, should at once take the necessary steps to authorize a major development at Boulder Canyon to make this possible. The trouble with this idea is that it is not a recognized national function to provide domestic water for municipalities. The United States, within certain limits, provides protection against flood and it is committed to the policy of reclamation of its public lands. If in accomplishing these purposes (and these are major purposes of the Boulder Canyon project), it can at the same time by properly shaping the development and without affecting these other purposes, aid the cities of Southern California to secure a water supply, well and good. If, in addition to this, these cities, because of their need of power for pumping the water, furnish an added market for the power privileges at the dam and thus make the financial aspect of the project that much more attractive to the Government, the domestic water phase of the project becomes an important one from the viewpoint of Congress and the national Government.

GOVERNOR INSPECTS COUNTY'S HIGHWAYS

Governor Friend W. Richardson and several members of the State Highway Commission returned Wednesday night from a three-day inspection trip of highways in the southern district connecting San Bernardino and Imperial.

According to E. Q. Sullivan, district engineer of the State Highway Commission, the purpose of the trip was mainly for the approval of the working plans drawn up in his office during the past six months. More specifically, Mr. Sullivan said, "the Governor simply wanted ideas on what the department is going to do in the future."

The party making the trip consisted of Governor and Mrs. Richardson, Highway Commissioner E. T. Edwards, Chief Engineer R. M. Morton and Mr. Sullivan.

The route of the inspection covered the roads into El Centro, from El Centro to Yuma and back, and the roads between El Centro and San Bernardino.

During the trip the party discussed proposed road work plans.

ONTARIO

Dr. Bert Foster, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Upland, was the speaker yesterday afternoon before the Rotary Club at their luncheon meeting at Hotel Casa Blanca, his subject dealing with the relation of the service club to the church.

The question as to whether the club would harm or help the church was gone into, the speaker taking the view that the club had it in its power greatly to augment the work of the church and held that the business man who can find time each week to devote to his club will also find time for his church. He urged that the aim of the clubman be to live the rule laid down by Christ to "love thy neighbor as thyself."

Earl Studley, new manager of the Ontario office of the Standard Oil Company, who recently came here from Downey with the highest recommendations from the Rotary Club of that city, to which he belonged, was voted in as a member of the Ontario Club on this occasion.

A goodly delegation of San Bernardino Rotarians was present to boost an inter-city Rotary meeting to be held at the county seat on the evening of March 5 for the purpose of stimulating interest in the coming district meeting at Fresno. John S. Armstrong announced that 28 Rotarians had so far made reservations for the Fresno gathering.

Glenn D. Smith was chairman of the meeting, S. Earle Blakeslee led the singing and Charles L. Tuttle was in charge of the humorous portion of the program. Wm. T. Hadley was fined 50 cents a pound for his 8-pound grandson, who recently arrived at the San Antonio Community Hospital. It was reported that the Ontario Club was one of six in this district to show a 100 per cent attendance record for January. Visitors were present from Pomona, Upland and Chino.

Prepare P rotests

Preparation by a committee appointed for the purpose of sending letters to Governor F. W. Richardson and a committee of the State Legislature deploring the parole of the former city service manager from San Quentin and requesting on the part of the Ontario Fire Department a complete investigation of the matter, occupied the center of interest in the case of Fred E. Alford here today.

This action followed a meeting of fire department members at which a strong stand against the injustice of the Alford parole was taken. Named on the committee to draft the letters were Chief Wm. Sanders, Harry Nelson and Edward Middough.

Reports were current here that a delegation from the Republican County Central Committee is to interview Governor Richardson relative to the Alford parole, but nothing definite could be learned in this regard.

Compliments Daughters

Complimenting her daughters, Mrs. Roland H. Zierke of Fairmont, Minn., and Mrs. Herbert T. Slater of San Bernardino, and her niece, Mrs. Samuel W. Raudenbush, of St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. Charles W. Carpenter entertained on Wednesday afternoon with a bridge tea of charming appointments at her attractive home, 141 Bonita Court.

Mrs. Zierke and Mrs. Raudenbush are house guests at the Carpenter home and the former, accompanied by her small daughter, is enjoying her first winter in California. Mrs. Zierke expects to be joined here by her husband, Dr. Zierke, about March 15, and they will return to their Minnesota home about the first of April. A George Washington motif was effectively carried out in the decorations and appointments, the patriotic colors being carried out successfully in red and white sweetpeas and cornflowers.

Six tables were used in the auction tournament and prizes for the afternoon's play were awarded Mrs. Earl M. Hill and Mrs. John M. Macrae. A delicious collation followed the games.

The out-of-town guests included Mrs. Wayne Richards and Mrs. William Harris of San Bernardino.

YEARLY REPORT SHOWS PROGRESS

Looked upon as proof positive of Ontario's and Upland's continued steady growth was the announcement Tuesday afternoon of Glenn D. Smith, general manager of the Ontario Power Company, that that concern added 600 new customers during the year 1912.

Mr. Smith's announcement was made at the annual meeting of stockholders of the company at its office, 217 South Lenon avenue, Ontario, and the general manager pointed out that the power concern for several years past has enjoyed an increase in business of 10 per cent per annum. The financial condition of the company to be excellent with a substantial surplus on hand.

Elected to the board of directors for the ensuing year were George B. Harrison, J. S. Armstrong, C. C. Graber, W. A. Freemire and Glenn D. Smith.

The board organized Wednesday with Mr. Harrison, president; Mr. Smith vice president and general manager; A. C. Reynolds, secretary-treasurer; and J. F. Fredendall, assistant secretary-treasurer.

RAISING CANE

"Did you go to the pictures alone?"
"Yes, mother."
"Then how does it happen you left here with an umbrella and come back with a cane?"—Eurista and Duda.

HOSPITAL IS NON-PROFIT PROJECT

To clear up a misunderstanding that is apparently being entertained by a number of west-end residents regarding stock formerly held in the old San Antonio Hospital and that has later been donated to the new San Antonio Community Hospital, Earl W. Paul, president of the new community hospital, has announced that no dividend checks are forthcoming from the new hospital to stockholders, as has been the erroneous impression of some.

The new San Antonio Community Hospital is not a profit-making institution, he said.

Recently several stockholders in the old hospital company on West Tenth street and San Antonio avenue, Ontario, have donated their stock to the new hospital and have expected dividends therefrom, and as no profits are earned there can be no dividends.

With reorganization of the new institution the manner of handling the old stock in the new plan of affairs was carefully outlined to everyone concerned, said Mr. Paul, and they understood at that time that there would be no dividends from the new hospital.

There are three classes of hospitals, according to Mr. Paul. First is the institution operated on lines similar to the old San Antonio Hospital, which was strictly a profit-making business, that paid dividends occasionally.

The second type of hospital is the private or semi-private hospital, owned and maintained by a group of doctors and which is operated primarily for profit.

The third type is the hospital similar to the new San Antonio Community Hospital, Upland, which is strictly non-profit, and is supported by donations of the people living in the community.

At present there are 27 members constituting the new community hospital, which number may be increased. At present the membership is spread over the communities of Upland, Cucamonga, Alta Loma, and Ontario. From the 27 members a board of trustees is elected who serve in the same capacity as a board of directors of any corporation. The board elects its own officers.

Present officers of the hospital board are:

Earl W. Paul, president; E. L. Richardson, vice president; H. C. Moore, treasurer; W. K. Beattie, secretary; Mrs. Caroline Vermilye, superintendent. Any proceeds from the sale of property of the old hospital will be turned into the new hospital, according to the number of shares of stock that the new hospital may own. Several inquiries have been made recently regarding purchase of the old hospital property, and indications are that it will ultimately be disposed of and the proceeds turned into the account of the new organization as above.

As soon as it becomes evident to the hospital board that profits are being made from any of the rooms or wards rates will be reduced accordingly.

It is the purpose of the hospital as soon as it becomes more firmly established, to reduce all prices as low as they may be safely cut compatible with continued efficiency.

Rates cannot be reduced and have a hospital pay dividends to stockholders of which there are none now, in the new hospital, Mr. Paul pointed out.

Some of the stockholders in the old hospital are now members of the new organization.

LOST ARTICLE RETURN IS NEW CLUB SERVICE

Twenty of the fifty articles found on the highways during the month of January by the Highway Patrol Service auto drivers of the Automobile Club of Southern California have already been returned to their rightful owners.

Proper identification is all that is necessary for the 30 persons somewhere in Southern California to obtain the articles that are now being kept in the lost and found department of the automobile club headquarters.

Watching for lost articles on the highways of the southland is just one more of the invaluable services rendered by the auto club.
